Statement of Intent

The Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP) forms part of Carers WA's strategic direction. The plan outlines a framework to identify and eliminate barriers to access and inclusion. Reflecting on the outcomes and strategies outlined in the plan, Carers WA is committed to break down barriers in the workplace and services so that people with disability can participate fully in all aspects of Carers WA's work.

Carers WA believes that an accessible and inclusive organisation is one in which all functions, facilities, and services (both in-house and contracted) are open, available, and accessible to people with disability, providing the same opportunities, rights and responsibilities as they would to any other person in the community.

The DAIP also aligns Carers WA with the WA State Disability Strategy¹ which states that, 'The Disability Services Act 1993 requires public authorities to develop a Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP) and report on its progress each year.' It adds that 'Over the next 10 years, the role of DAIPs will be strengthened by encouraging and rewarding ambitious, local solutions in addition to monitoring and reporting on compliance across the community.'

People with Disability and Carers WA

Carers WA recognises that people with disability are valued members of the community who make many positive contributions to the community socially, economically, and culturally.

In Australia 2.65 million people identified as carers in 2023 with over one third of primary carers identifying as having a disability themselves. As an organisation we recognise the work to be done around the intergenerational disadvantage for people with disability who are carers themselves and how this relates to disability access and inclusion to our services. Carers WA is committed to consulting people with disability, their families, and carers to address barriers to facilities, buildings and services. Carers WA strives to ensure that organisational information, opportunities, and facilities are accessible to all, and recognises the role the organisation plays to overcoming these barriers.

Carers WA will strive to ensure all policies and procedures, particularly those relating to staff recruitment and engagement, encourage and include people with disability and their carers. As part of this commitment Carers WA looks to implement all measures identified throughout this plan where practical.

An Easy English version of the DAIP will also be produced and made available. For further information contact the Disability Access and Inclusion Working Group via email. inclusion@carerswa.asn.au

Feedback can be provided to Carers WA at any time to highlight barriers to access and explore solutions to be implemented. Carers WA has a robust feedback system in place, and this will be utilised to capture issues around access and inclusion.

Carers WA's DAIP reporting will be undertaken on a regular basis through the Access and Inclusion Working Group which is made up of staff from across the organisation. The group can invite experts from outside of the organisation to reflect on access and inclusion matters that may affect those we support and our staff. Improvements implemented will be communicated through existing methods.

Planning for Access

The Disability Services Act 1993 (WA) recommends organisations to develop and implement a DAIP. These plans identify barriers to access and inclusion and propose solutions to ensure that people with disability have equality of access to the organisation's facilities and services. The Carers WA DAIP works towards meeting the requirements under the act for contractors to a Public Authority and to follow best practise. Other legislation and policies relating to disability when planning for access and inclusion include:

- The Building Code of Australia (BCA)
- The Access to Premises Standards under the Disability Discrimination Act (DDA)
- State Disability Strategy 2020 – 2030
- WA Equal Opportunity Act 1984
- Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of Person's with Disability.
